

A Clinical Trial:

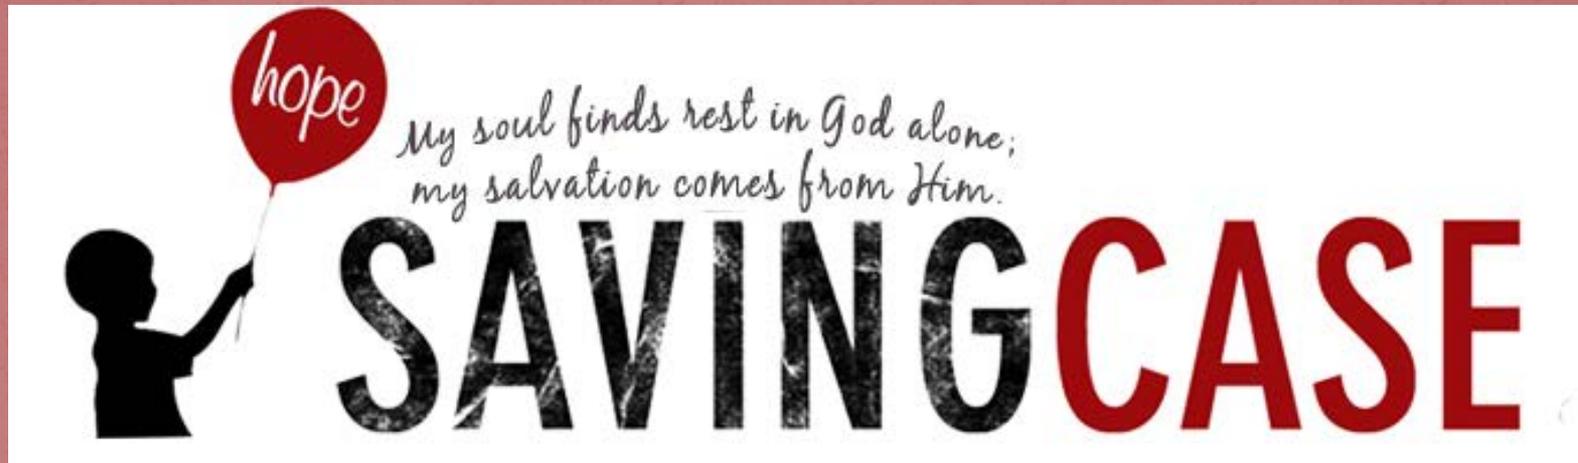

One Family's Experience

Our family

Tyson, Melissa, Brock, Chris & Case (MPS II)

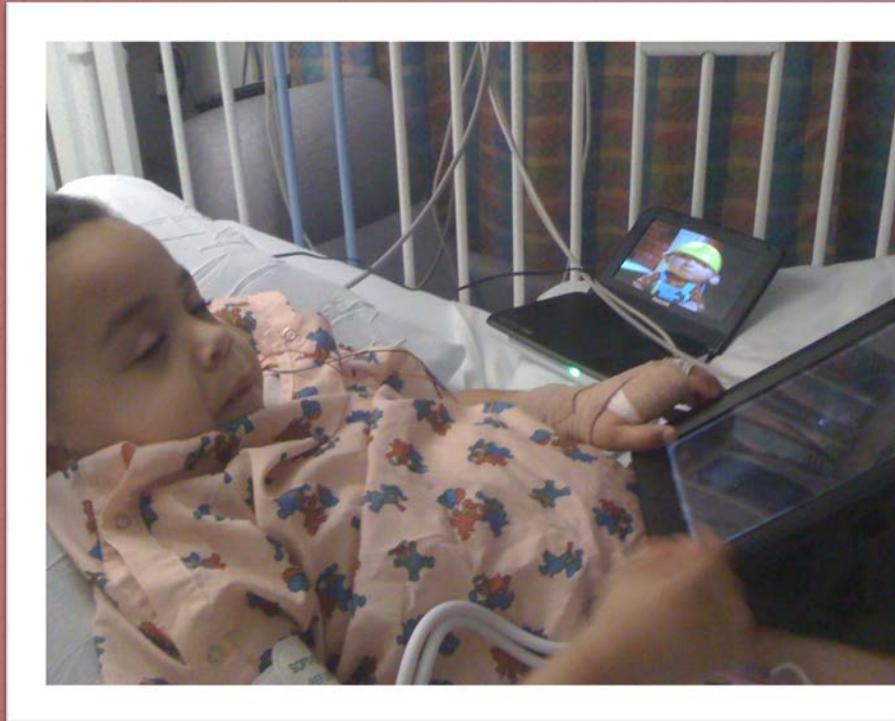

Top 10 signs you are in a clinical trial:

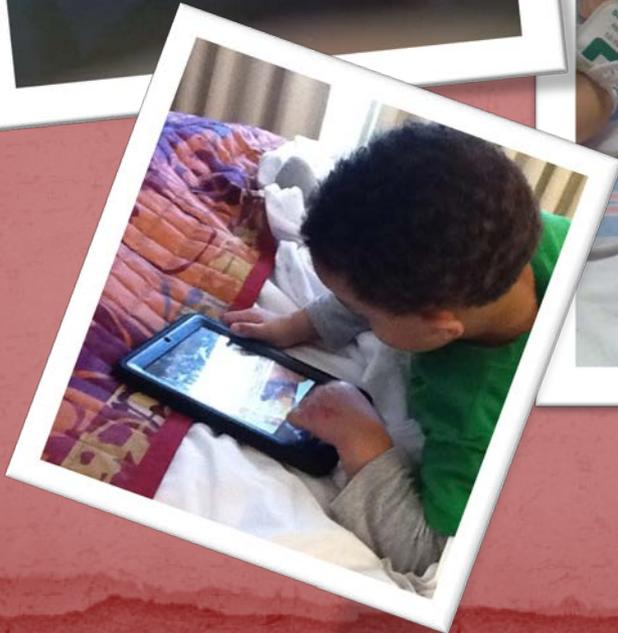

#10: By the time you unpack and do laundry, you're packing to fly out again

#9: You “call ahead” to get the best space in the short stay unit at the hospital

#8: You carry your own power strip with the computer cord, phone charger, and iPad cord already attached

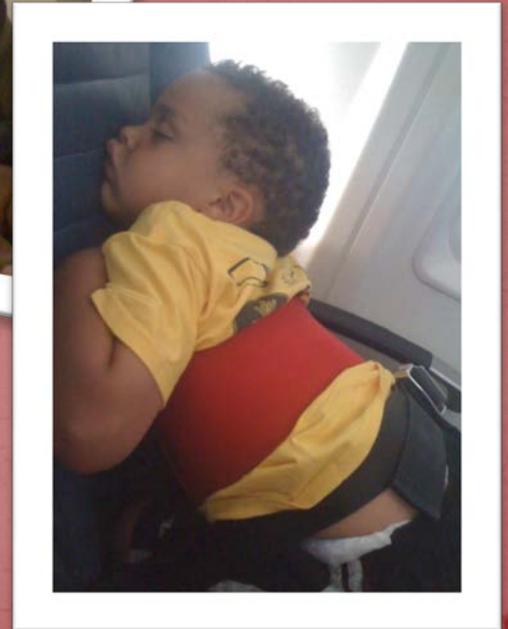

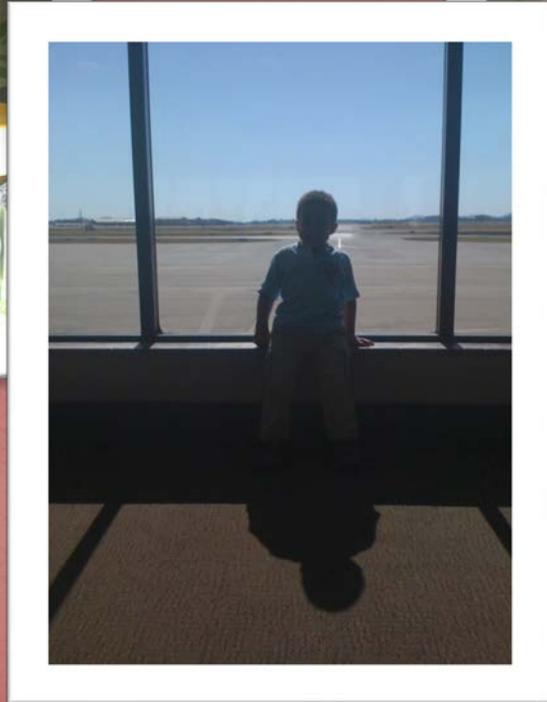

#7: You did your taxes in a hospital room

#6: 4 hours' sleep a night is really pushing it

#5: Your son has his own frequent flyer number and has already racked up free flights

#4: You have several doctors on speed dial

#3: You consider a “night out” to be getting pizza from the “better” cafeteria and a Netflix movie in the hospital room

#2: You think dry shampoo is one of the best inventions ever

#1: You arrive in a different rental car each time, but the hospital valet still greets you with “Welcome back Mrs. Hogan”

The longer I live, the more I realize the impact of attitude on life.

Attitude, to me, is more important than facts. It is more important than the past, than education, than money, than circumstances, than failures, than successes, than what other people think or say or do. It is more important than appearance, giftedness or skill. It will make or break a company... a church... a home.

The remarkable thing is we have a choice every day regarding the attitude we will embrace for that day. We cannot change our past... we cannot change the fact that people will act in a certain way. We cannot change the inevitable. The only thing we can do is play on the one string we have, and that is our attitude... I am convinced that life is 10% what happens to me and 90% how I react to it.

And so it is with you... we are in charge of our attitudes.
